

Highways & Byways – A Community of Service

Continuing the vision and mission of the Missionary Sisters of Service and the John Wallis Foundation

Considering a Bequest?

Knowing that you care enough to provide for the mission of Highways and Byways – a Community of Service in your Will makes a big difference to us. It enables us to look to the future and plan with confidence. It also gives us the opportunity to involve you in our plans and share with you our vision for the future. By knowing of your intention to give, we can make sure that your Bequest will be carried out according to your wishes. We respect your privacy and will keep your intention in strict confidence.

A gift in your Will is a simple way to show support for the mission of Highways and Byways. It is a gift that will live on long after you have gone. It is a way of sharing assets, money, property or valuables that you may need and use now, but can pass on when you no longer need them.

There are different ways of making a bequest, e.g. a percentage of your estate, the residue of your estate, a specific amount or a specified item.

We recommend that you consult your solicitor for advice. Should you wish us to arrange independent legal advice for you, we are happy to do so.
